ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

All praise is due to Allah, who commands us to defend the weak and the oppressed. May blessings and peace be upon our master, the Prophet Muhammad ﷺ, upon his family and Companions, and upon those who followed his path in excellence — among them Muhammad ibn al-Qasim, the conqueror of Sind.

This eBook is specially dedicated to my beloved wife,

ZAHARAH MOHD LATIF;

my dear children,

MUHAMMAD HAFIZ, NOOR HAZWANI, ABDUL HAKIM, NOOR HIDAYAH, NOR AQILA and NOR ATIQAH; and my sons- and daughters-in-law,

FAZILAH, MALEK, HANIN, FAIRIZAL and FIRWAN.

This seventeenth book of Heroes of Islam tells the story of Muhammad ibn al-Qasim al-Thaqafi: the young commander who answered the cry of captive Muslim women, opened Daybul, defeated King Dahir, granted religious freedom to the people of Sind, and finally died in the prison of Wasit as a victim of political turmoil. His story is told with honesty about its sources, including the stories that are not established. May this knowledge be ‘ilmun yuntafa‘u bih — knowledge that brings benefit.

ABOUT THE COVER OF THIS EBOOK

This eBook's cover does not depict any human being or animal. It shows the Indus River delta in Sind at sunrise, with morning mist over the water, date palms and sand dunes along the riverbank.

In the distance stand the walls and gate of a port city — recalling Daybul — and beside them the foundations and pillars of an early mosque. The ruins of Banbhore near Karachi, believed to be the site of Daybul, hold among the oldest mosque foundations in South Asia.

In the foreground, on a stone by the riverbank, rest an iron helmet, a spear and a leather bag with rolled letters — a symbol of Muhammad ibn al-Qasim's correspondence with al-Hajjaj and his peace agreements with the people of Sind. The ships at the jetty recall the military equipment sent by sea.

The dark blue band at the bottom, framed by fine gold lines, is where the author's name appears — the same as on the covers of Series 1 to Series 16, so that all the covers of Heroes of Islam match.

MUHAMMAD IBN AL-QASIM

The history books relate that a ship carrying Muslim women from Sarandib (Sri Lanka) was seized by pirates near the port of Daybul in Sind. One of the women cried out: "O Hajjaj!" That cry reached Iraq, and a few years later a young commander of Banu Thaqif arrived in Sind to free the captives. That commander was Muhammad ibn al-Qasim al-Thaqafi.

He is said to have been only about seventeen years old when he led the army. Within about three years (92–95 AH / 711–714 CE) he opened Daybul, crossed the Indus River, defeated King Dahir, and reached Multan. More importantly, he treated the Hindu and Buddhist inhabitants justly and allowed them to practise their religion. Yet in the end he was recalled, imprisoned and died while still young — a victim of the political turmoil that followed the death of al-Hajjaj.

This eBook is the seventeenth in the Heroes of Islam series. The story of Muhammad ibn al-Qasim comes from the history books, especially Futuh al-Buldan by al-Baladhuri (3rd century AH) and the later Chachnama. For this reason the source and grade of every story are stated honestly — including the story of King Dahir's daughters, which is not established — and its lessons are grounded in the Qur'an and authentic Hadith.

The story of Muhammad ibn al-Qasim is the story of a young man who answered the cry of the oppressed, ruled with justice, and bore the injustice done to him with patience.

WHO WAS MUHAMMAD IBN AL-QASIM?

His full name was Muhammad ibn al-Qasim ibn Muhammad al-Thaqafi, of the tribe of Thaqif in Ta'if. He was born around 72 AH (about 695 CE). He was a close relative of al-Hajjaj ibn Yusuf al-Thaqafi, governor of the eastern provinces of the Umayyad Caliphate, who entrusted him with military command despite his youth.

Before Sind, he is said to have been appointed to command troops in the province of Fars (Persia). His exact age when he led the conquest of Sind differs between sources, but most describe him as still in his teens or early twenties.

Age is not the measure of ability. Islam opens the way for capable young people to carry great responsibility.

A YOUNG COMMANDER: LEADERSHIP IS NOT MEASURED BY AGE

Some may wonder at a youth being given command of an army. Yet the Messenger of Allah ﷺ himself appointed the young Usamah ibn Zayd to lead an army that included senior Companions, and defended the appointment:

HADITH — SAHIH AL-BUKHARI, NO. 4469

حَدَّثَنَا إِسْمَاعِيلُ، حَدَّثَنَا مَالِكٌ، عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ دِينَارٍ، عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ عُمَرَ - رضى الله عنهما أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صلى الله عليه وسلم بَعَثَ بَعْثًا وَأَمَّرَ عَلَيْهِمْ أُسَامَةَ بْنَ زَيْدٍ، فَطَعَنَ النَّاسُ فِي إِمَارَتِهِ، فَقَامَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صلى الله عليه وسلم فَقَالَ " إِنْ تَطْعُنُوا فِي إِمَارَتِهِ فَقَدْ كُنْتُمْ تَطْعُنُونَ فِي إِمَارَةِ أَبِيهِ مِنْ قَبْلُ، وَايْمُ اللَّهِ إِنْ كَانَ لَخَلِيقًا لِلإِمَارَةِ، وَإِنْ كَانَ لَمِنْ أَحَبِّ النَّاسِ إِلَىَّ، وَإِنَّ هَذَا لَمِنْ أَحَبِّ النَّاسِ إِلَىَّ بَعْدَهُ ".

TRANSLATION:

'Abdullah ibn 'Umar narrated that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ sent a force and appointed Usamah ibn Zayd as its commander, and people criticised his leadership. The Messenger of Allah ﷺ stood up and said: "If you criticise his leadership, you used to criticise the leadership of his father before. By Allah, he (Zayd) was worthy of leadership, and he was among the dearest of people to me; and this one (Usamah) is among the dearest of people to me after him."

REFERENCE: Narrated by Imam al-Bukhari in Sahih al-Bukhari, Book of Military Expeditions, Hadith No. 4469.

Ability and trustworthiness are the true measures of a leader. But we must also be honest: Muhammad ibn al-Qasim's appointment came through his relative al-Hajjaj, and his fate would later be tied to al-Hajjaj's fate.

LESSONS

Capable young people deserve a chance; the measure is fitness and trustworthiness, not age alone.

SIND AND KING DAHIR

HISTORICAL NOTE: A LAND BEYOND THE FRONTIER

Sind is the region around the Indus valley, in the south of today's Pakistan. At that time it was ruled by King Dahir, a Brahmin king, with his capital at al-Rur (Aror). Its people were Hindus and Buddhists.

Before Muhammad ibn al-Qasim, the Muslims had sent several expeditions to Sind, among them those of 'Ubaydullah ibn Nabhan and Budayl ibn Tahfah al-Bajali — both failed, and both commanders were killed.

Status of the report: Narrated in the histories of the conquest of Sind without an authentic chain. The story is well known and accepted as history, but it cannot be used as proof in the way an authentic hadith can.

THE CRY "O HAJJAJ!"

HISTORICAL NOTE: THE SHIPS FROM SARANDIB

Al-Baladhuri relates that the king of Sarandib (Sri Lanka) sent al-Hajjaj ships carrying Muslim women — daughters of Muslim merchants who had died there. The ships were seized by pirates in the waters of Daybul. A woman of Banu Yarbu' cried out: "O Hajjaj!" When the news arrived, al-Hajjaj answered: "Here I am for you!" He asked King Dahir to free the captives, but Dahir replied that the pirates were beyond his control.

Status of the report: Narrated in the histories of the conquest of Sind without an authentic chain. The story is well known and accepted as history, but it cannot be used as proof in the way an authentic hadith can.

Defending one's oppressed brothers and sisters in faith is a duty taught by the Messenger of Allah ﷺ:

HADITH — SAHIH AL-BUKHARI, NO. 2442

FREEING THE CAPTIVES

The first aim of the expedition was to free the captives. The history books mention that after Daybul was opened, the Muslim captives held there were freed. Freeing captives is a command of the Messenger of Allah ﷺ:

CAREFUL PREPARATION

HISTORICAL NOTE: AL-HAJJAJ'S PLANNING

Learning from earlier failures, al-Hajjaj prepared very carefully. Muhammad ibn al-Qasim was given about 6,000 Syrian cavalry and a camel corps. Heavy equipment, including a great mangonel (stone-thrower) named al-'Arus that is said to have needed 500 men to operate, was sent by sea. Al-Baladhuri also relates that al-Hajjaj soaked cotton in strong vinegar and dried it, so that the army could make vinegar in Sind by soaking the cotton in water. Muhammad ibn al-Qasim also corresponded constantly with al-Hajjaj throughout the expedition.

Status of the report: Narrated in the histories of the conquest of Sind without an authentic chain. The story is well known and accepted as history, but it cannot be used as proof in the way an authentic hadith can.

THE OPENING OF DAYBUL

HISTORICAL NOTE: THE FIRST PORT

Muhammad ibn al-Qasim reached Daybul, the main port of Sind, around 92–93 AH (711–712 CE) and besieged it. The mangonel al-'Arus brought down the great flagpole of the city's temple, and the city was finally opened. He then built a mosque in Daybul and settled about 4,000 Muslims there.

Status of the report: Narrated in the histories of the conquest of Sind without an authentic chain. The story is well known and accepted as history, but it cannot be used as proof in the way an authentic hadith can.

REFERENCES:

Archaeologists believe that the ruins of Banbhore, near today's Karachi, are the site of Daybul. The foundations of a mosque found there are considered among the oldest in South Asia. However, the earliest inscription found in that mosque is dated 109 AH (727 CE), after the time of Muhammad ibn al-Qasim, so it cannot be confirmed whether the building is the mosque he built or one rebuilt later.

LESSONS

Building a mosque after the opening shows that the real aim was to establish Islam, not merely to conquer.

CROSSING THE INDUS: THE BATTLE AGAINST DAHIR

HISTORICAL NOTE: RAMADAN 93 AH

After Daybul, Muhammad ibn al-Qasim advanced north through Nirun and Sehwan; many cities surrendered through peace agreements. He then crossed the Indus River on a bridge of boats and met the army of King Dahir, which used war elephants. In a great battle near Rawar in Ramadan 93 AH (June 712 CE), King Dahir was killed and his army defeated.

Status of the report: The victory over King Dahir in 93 AH is agreed upon by historians; the details of the battle come mostly from the Chachnama and differ between sources.

THE STORY OF DAHIR'S DAUGHTERS: BETWEEN FACT AND LEGEND

SOURCE NOTE: A STORY THAT IS NOT ESTABLISHED

The Chachnama relates that two daughters of King Dahir were sent to the Caliph and falsely claimed that Muhammad ibn al-Qasim had dishonoured them. According to this story, the caliph ordered Muhammad to be sewn into a raw ox-hide until he died, after which the princesses confessed that they had lied to avenge their father's death.

This story is not found in al-Baladhuri, the earlier source. It appears only in the Chachnama, a Persian book compiled in the 13th century CE, and has many features of legend. Al-Baladhuri gives a different and more plausible reason: Muhammad was recalled and imprisoned because of the political turmoil after the death of al-Hajjaj (see Chapter 13).

Status of the report: Weak and not established; mixed with legend.

REFERENCES:

Chachnama; Al-Baladhuri, Futuh al-Buldan; modern historical studies of the sources on the conquest of Sind.

LESSONS

RELIGIOUS FREEDOM FOR THE PEOPLE OF SIND

HISTORICAL NOTE: THE TEMPLES OF BRAHMANABAD

After Brahmanabad was opened, its people asked permission to rebuild their temples and continue their worship. Muhammad ibn al-Qasim wrote to al-Hajjaj, who replied that since they had submitted and paid the jizyah, they were to be treated like the Christians, Jews and Magians: left to worship their gods, with no objection to rebuilding their temples. Brahmins were also appointed to help with administration.

This policy is in harmony with the principle of the Qur'an:

Translation: Sahih International — quran.com/2:256

And the Messenger of Allah ﷺ gave a severe warning to anyone who kills a non-Muslim who has a covenant with the Muslims:

JUSTICE TOWARD THOSE WHO DO NOT FIGHT

Historical reports mention that Muhammad ibn al-Qasim kept many local officials in their posts, fixed taxes at set rates, and gave a share of revenue to the local religious class. This policy led many cities to surrender without a battle.

Allah does not forbid the Muslims from being good to those who do not fight them:

SURAH AL-MUMTAHANAH 60:8

لَّا يَنْهَىٰكُمُ ٱللَّهُ عَنِ ٱلَّذِينَ لَمْ يُقَٰتِلُوكُمْ فِى ٱلدِّينِ وَلَمْ يُخْرِجُوكُم مِّن دِيَٰرِكُمْ

After the victory over Dahir, Muhammad ibn al-Qasim opened Brahmanabad, then the capital al-Rur (Aror). He continued north until he opened Multan around 95 AH (713–714 CE). A CHANGE OF POWER AND THE PRISON OF WASIT

HISTORICAL NOTE: A VICTIM OF POLITICAL TURMOIL

In 95 AH al-Hajjaj died, and in 96 AH the Caliph al-Walid ibn ‘Abd al-Malik also died. The new caliph, Sulayman ibn ‘Abd al-Malik, was a bitter enemy of al-Hajjaj and his family. He appointed a new governor to Sind and ordered Muhammad ibn al-Qasim to be brought back in chains. Muhammad was imprisoned in Wasit, Iraq, under the governor Salih ibn ‘Abd al-Rahman, who bore a grudge against al-Hajjaj’s family, and was tortured until he died in 96 AH (715 CE), still a young man.

Al-Baladhuri relates that as he was taken away, he recited the famous verse: «□□□□□□□□□□□ □□□□□□□□□ □□□□□□□□□ □□□□□□□□ □ □□□□□□□□□ □□□□□ □□□□□□□ □□□□□□» — “They have wasted me — and what a young man they have wasted — for a day of battle and for guarding the frontier.”

Status of the report: Narrated in the histories of the conquest of Sind without an authentic chain. The story is well known and accepted as history, but it cannot be used as proof in the way an authentic hadith can.

The Messenger of Allah ﷺ reminded us how grave injustice is:

PATIENCE IN TRIAL

The historical reports do not mention that Muhammad ibn al-Qasim rebelled or resisted the caliph's order, even though he commanded a large army in a distant land. He accepted the decision and returned. The Messenger of Allah ﷺ taught that every state of a believer is good for him:

HADITH — SAHIH MUSLIM, NO. 2999

حَدَّثَنَا هَدَّابُ بْنُ خَالِدٍ الأَزْدِيُّ، وَشَيْبَانُ بْنُ فَرُّوخَ، جَمِيعًا عَنْ سُلَيْمَانَ بْنِ الْمُغِيرَةِ، - وَاللَّفْظُ لِشَيْبَانَ - حَدَّثَنَا سُلَيْمَانُ، حَدَّثَنَا ثَابِتٌ، عَنْ عَبْدِ الرَّحْمَنِ بْنِ أَبِي لَيْلَى، عَنْ صُهَيْبٍ، قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صلى الله عليه وسلم " عَجَبًا لأَمْرِ الْمُؤْمِنِ إِنَّ أَمْرَهُ كُلَّهُ خَيْرٌ وَلَيْسَ ذَاكَ لأَحَدٍ إِلاَّ لِلْمُؤْمِنِ إِنْ أَصَابَتْهُ سَرَّاءُ شَكَرَ فَكَانَ خَيْرًا لَهُ وَإِنْ أَصَابَتْهُ ضَرَّاءُ صَبَرَ فَكَانَ خَيْرًا لَهُ " .

Suhayb narrated that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "How wonderful is the affair of the believer! All of his affairs are good for him, and this is for no one except the believer. If something pleasing befalls him, he is grateful, and that is good for him. And if harm befalls him, he is patient, and that is good for him."

CHAIN OF NARRATION: Narrated by Imam Muslim: from Haddab ibn Khalid al-Azdi and Shayban ibn Farrukh, from Sulayman ibn al-Mughirah, from Thabit al-Bunani, from 'Abd al-Rahman ibn Abi Layla, from Suhayb al-Rumi رضى الله عنه.

MOURNED BY THE PEOPLE OF SIND

HISTORICAL NOTE: LOVED BY THOSE HE CONQUERED

Al-Baladhuri relates that when Muhammad ibn al-Qasim was taken away, the people of India (Sind) wept for him, and some of them made an image of him in the town of Kiraj as a memorial. This shows how much they — most of whom were not Muslims — valued his justice and his treatment of them.

Status of the report: Narrated in the histories of the conquest of Sind without an authentic chain. The story is well known and accepted as history, but it cannot be used as proof in the way an authentic hadith can.

Making images is not an Islamic practice; this report is mentioned only as evidence of how much the people of Sind, who were then mostly Hindus and Buddhists, loved the commander who opened their land.

Sind later came to be called "Bab al-Islam" (the Gate of Islam) in the Indian subcontinent. Through merchants, scholars and Sufis, Islam spread from there across South Asia, which today is home to hundreds of millions of Muslims in Pakistan, India and Bangladesh. In Pakistan, Muhammad ibn al-Qasim is remembered as one of the earliest figures of Islamic history in the region.

LESSONS AND CONCLUSION

The story of Muhammad ibn al-Qasim begins with the cry of a woman held captive at sea and ends with a young man dying in the prison of Wasit. Between the two, the gate of Islam opened in South Asia.

LESSON	FROM THE STORY OF MUHAMMAD IBN AL-QASIM
Leadership by merit	The story of Usamah ibn Zayd
Defending the oppressed	"A Muslim is the brother of a Muslim…"
Freeing captives	"Free the captive…"
No compulsion in religion	Al-Baqarah 2:256; Brahmanabad
Protecting those under covenant	The warning against killing a mu'ahad
Injustice is darkness	The end in the prison of Wasit
Patience in trial	"How wonderful is the affair of the believer…"
Honesty about sources	The story of Dahir's daughters, not established

May we follow Muhammad ibn al-Qasim's example: answering the cry of the oppressed, being just to all, and being patient when tested.

In sha' Allah, the Heroes of Islam series will continue with the story of another hero of Islam.
