2. Printing at a print shop

Give the print shop both the book interior and the full cover files, with these specifications:

Book size	A4 (210 × 297 mm)
Number of pages	37 (printed double-sided / duplex)
Colour	Full colour
Interior paper	80gsm
Binding	Comb/wire binding or thin glued binding — this book is slim, so comb binding suits it best
Full cover size	427.9 × 303.0 mm, including 3 mm bleed on every edge
Spine	1.9 mm (for 80gsm paper) — ask the print shop to confirm it

> Tip: Ask for one proof copy first to check the colours and binding before printing in larger numbers.

3. Printing at home

a) Front and back covers

1. Use thicker A4 paper, for example 100gsm, matte card or photo paper (check your printer's paper-weight limit).
2. Open Front_Cover_A4_Home.pdf in Adobe Acrobat Reader → File → Print.
3. Under Page Sizing & Handling, choose "Actual size" (not "Fit").
4. Click Properties → Paper Size: A4; Paper Type: to match your paper; Quality: High.
5. Print, then repeat for Back_Cover_A4_Home.pdf.
6. Let the covers dry for 10–15 minutes on a flat surface, as they contain a lot of dark colour.

Most home printers cannot print right to the edge of A4 paper. That is why the home cover files come with an even 5 mm white border.

b) The book interior (manual double-sided printing)

1. Open Muadh_ibn_Jabal_PRINT.pdf → Print → Actual size; Paper Type "Plain paper", Quality "Standard".
2. Test with just 4 pages first (Pages 1–4) to make sure the paper direction is right.
3. Click More Options → choose "Odd pages only" → Print.
4. Let the pages dry for about 5 minutes. Turn the stack over and put it back into the printer tray.
5. Print again with "Even pages only".
6. Print in small batches, for example 20–30 sheets at a time, so it is easy to redo if the paper jams.

c) Binding

- Comb or wire binding is suitable and inexpensive — any photocopy shop can do it. This book has only 19 sheets, so a small comb is enough.
- Place a clear plastic sheet in front of the front cover and behind the back cover to protect the colours.
- The inner margin of this book is 3 cm, so the binding holes will not touch the text.
